Textile Ministers And Religious Workers Hold First Fall Meet

Rev. George W. Clay Elected President

At a luncheon meeting at the White Oak-Revolution branch of Cone Memorial YMCA last Tuesday, September 19th the Textile Ministerial and Religious Workers asociation held its first meeting of the fall season. Rev. M. A. Pollard, pastor of Palm Street Christian church officiated. Rev. F. E. Howard, pastor of Park Street Methodist Church, Belmont, N. C., was the guest speaker.

Speaking informally to the association on world affairs and how the Christian church fits into the global pattern now and in the post war period, Rev. Howard pointed out that the minister has a unique place in which to serve and urged each minister to do his best to make America a Christian nation.

At the close of the meeting a short business session was held, and officers were elected for the new year. Rev. George W. Clay, pastor of Carraway Memorial Methodist church was elected president of the Textile Ministerial and Religious Workers association: with him was elected Rev. M. A. Pollard as Vice-president, and Rev. C. W. Russell, pastor of Newlyn Street Methodist church was re-elected secretary. Rev. Frank B. Dennard, new pastor of Broadview Wesylean Methodist church was welcomed into the fellowship of the asociation as a member. After adjournment several ministers visited the Arnold Bibical room on the third floor of the Y. building.

PRINT WORKS SNAPPERS

The office force at Proximity Print Works enjoyed a Brunswick stew, Saturday evening, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Burton Campbell, Lawndale drive. About 50 people were present, which included members of their famil-

Each member of the office force ntributed an ingredient and Mr. and rs. Moir Ayers and Mr. and Mrs. Burton Campbell prepared the stew over Mr. Campbell's outdoor fireplace. Mrs. Campbell also served very well liked cakes. Mr. H. A. Barnes was a special guest. This is the second annual dinner.

S. Sgt. George Jones of Fort Bragg, spent the week end with his wife, the former Miss Ruth Brame.

S. 2c William B. Pascell is now on sea duty somewhere in the Southwest Pacific.

Mrs. Helen Shepherd entertained her Sunday Scholl class Saturday evening at her home on Walnut street. About 16 members were present. Mrs. Shepherd served homemade ice cream and cake, and was assisted by her daughter, Mrs. Mary Barham.

Mr. Sidney Campbell left Monday to attend State Colege, Raleigh.

In loving memory of our Dad, Mr. J. M. Edmondson, who died one year ago on September 16, 1943.

Daddy, you've been gone a year today
We've missed you more than words can say
And till memory fades and life departs,
You will live forever in our hearts.
Your many hours and day's of pain,
Your troubled nights are past
Your ever-loving patient frame,
Has found sweet rest at last.

CAUGHT IN THE GIGANTIC TRAP set for them by onrushing Americans and slugging British and Canadians in France, these are some of the thousands of German prisoners captured after hard fighting in what has become famous as the "Falaise pocket." British troops are bringing them into a prisoner camp as Allied tanks roll on toward the battlefront.

Memorial Service Held For Clyde Hassel Ray

Killed In Action In France On August 1st

Haw River—Memorial Service was held in the Haw River Baptist church on Sunday, September 17, 1944 for Cpl. Clyde Hassel Ray, 32, son of Mrs. Nancy Ray and the late Crawford M. Ray, who was killed in action in France, August 1, 1944.

Cpl. Ray was a graduate of Haw River high school and a former employee of the Granite Finishing Works. He enlisted in the army in March 1942 and received his basic training at Camp Chaffee, Ark. In February of 1944 he was sent overseas.

He is survived by his wife the former Miss Nelle Greeson of Gibsonville, his mother, one sister, Miss Kathryn Ray of Haw River; four brothers, Crawford, Jr., now with the army overseas, Carl, Ben, and Haywood Ray, all of this community and a host of friends.

The services were conducted by Rev. M. D. Smith, pastor of the Baptist church, assisted by Rev. Burnell Pannell, pastor of the Methodist church. Music was furnished by the church choir with Mrs. Frank Bain soloist.

White Oak Community Club Held Meeting

The rain failed to dampen the spirits and appetites of 16 members of the club at the regular meeting Monday p.m. at the welfare house.

A covered dish supper was served buffet style at 6:30.

Mrs. Max Payne, chairman of Volunteer Special Services, discussed briefly phases of Red Cross activities. She stressed the need of more kit bags to be sent to boys overseas. Mrs. Hoyle Sink, County Production Chairman, and Mrs. Fred Sarles, Chairman of Surgical Dressings were guests.

Officers elected for the coming year are as follows: Mrs. Frank Graves, Jr., president; Mrs. R. L. Clapp, vice-president; Mrs. Frank Clark, secretary; Mrs. Millard Leonard, treasurer.

Community Club Executive Board Held Meeting

Mrs. Frank Graves Jr., president of Community Club called an Executive Board meeting Thursday p.m. at the White Oak welfare house. Plans for the coming year were discussed and committees formed.

Those present were: Mesdames Graves, Lee Clapp, Henry Morris, Taylor Turner and Miss Lillian Tilley.

School Children On Highways Emphasize Need Of Safety

Safeguarding Of Children Is Responsibility Of All; Hocutt Gives Suggestions

School days are here again—thousands of children are walking along our roadways, and crossing streets. They are carefree and anxious to reach school on time. The safety of these children is of utmost importance.

Ronald Hocutt, director of the State Highway Safety Division declared today, that, "The safeguarding of the children going to and from school is a responsibility of the school, the home and the community."

"This responsibility can be met, provided each of us are constantly reminded that although the volume of traffic is much less today, the hazard of careless driving continues to take its toll of life on our highways," continued Mr. Hocutt.

The following suggestions are recommended by the Director to parents and teachers for the protection of the school child pedestrian:

1. Select the safest route for children in towns and cities to walk to and from school.
2. Instruct children daily to cross streets only at intersections.
3. Permit children daily to cross streets only at intersections.
3. Permit children to leave home in time to reach school on time, but not with time to play along the streets or roads.
4. In rural areas children should be instructed to walk on the Left Side of the Roadway, and to always move out of the way of approaching cars.
5. In cooperation with the local Police Department, special streets should be designated as school crossings. If possible, have this crossing guarded during certain hours of the day when children will be going or coming from school.

The Director of the Safety Division also urges Motorists:

1. Drive cautiously on approaching school zones in both rural and city areas.
2. Be on the alert for children who may be playing along or near the roadway.
3. At all times keep in mind that the child along the road or street may suddenly run into the path of the oncoming car.
4. The good driver asumes that every child playing on or near the street is about to dart in front of his car, and drives cautiously.

"Children can be trained to be good pedestrians. However, it requires the combined efforts of the school, the home, and the community. Let all of us put forth the necessary efforts to protect the school children of our State from automobile accidents this school year," urged the Director.

Rules For Canned Food Contest Are Announced

Exhibit Open To Public On Friday, October 6th

Rules for the Revolution canned foods exhibit to be held Friday, October 6, in the auditorium of Revolution apartment building, were announced this week by Mrs. Lowell T. Steele, director of the contest.

The exhibit will be divided into three groups:

1. Those who have ten or more different products.
2. Those who have five or more different products.
3. Those who have two or more different products.

So that the display will offer a picture of the village house wives' kitchen activities, the entries are invited to bring one glass or jar of everything canned this summer, vegetables, fruits, jams, jellies, relishes, pickles, etc.

All canned foods for the exhibit should be brought to the welfare kitchen sometime Wednesday or Thursday, Oct. 4 and 5, preferably in the morning so that the tables may be set up and arranged for Open-House, Friday, Oct. 6. Any jar of food fit to eat is fit to exhibit, said Mrs. Steele.

An invitation is not necessary, since it is impossible to extend personal invitations. Everyone, those who have or have not entered canned foods, are invited to see what their neighbors have done this season. The exhibit will be open from 10:00 a.m. to 9:30 p.m. on Friday. Before the opening the judges will award prizes and ribbons to the best groups.

Seaman Buck Beeker Home On Furlough

Seaman 1c Buck Beeker, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Beeker, 1303 Cypress street, Proximity, has returned to Seattle, Washington after a thirty-day furlough spent with his parents here.

Seaman Beeker has been in the service since he volunteered September 1, 1942. After receiving his boot training in Norfolk, Va., he was assigned to his ship and went immediately into foreign service. He has seen 21 months' service in the islands of the Pacific.

Post Office Rejects Poorly Wrapped Boxes

Due to the fact that quite a few packages wrapped for overseas mailing have been rejected because they were carelessly packed, Postmaster J. Tracy Moore, has made a few suggestions for preparing Christmas parcels.

He stated that the packages be cushioned with useful articles such as small towels, wash cloths or reading matter such as newspapers. Nothing in the package should move about when shaken, said the postmaster.

Moore warned that some boxes on the market sold as suitable for overseas mailing are not at all appropriate. The container should be very strong corragated cardboard or something similiar, and should be tied with strong cord and marked "Christmas parcel".

Stay on the job at home and help the boys that are away and longing to return back again to shorten the days when they may return again.

Red Cross Dressings Workers Work Steadily At Task Each Week

Classes Held Each Week In Local Communities

Realizing that even though victory is almost certain for the near future, members of the Red Cross dressings group at Proximity, White Oak and Revolution see the importance of keeping on in their work. In spite of rain and other inconveniences the workers in the Proximity Red Cross room made 1420 surgical dressings last week, 500 on Thursday night and 920 on Monday night. The workers in the Revolution work room made 306 dressings on Monday evening.

Those rolling bandages at Proximity on Thursday night were: Mrs. R. C. Goforth, Mrs. Jay Suttles, Mrs. Archie Baynes, Mrs. Sadie Johnson, Mrs. Ralph Ritter, new member; and Misses Jeanette Brewer, Juanita Hardy, Millicent Maness and Mary Goforth.

YMCA Centennial Group Holds Dinner Meeting

Raymond Kincaid, Chairman Of Centennial Committee Presides Over Meeting; Plans For Closing Year Are Discussed By A. S. Arnold

Looking toward plans for the fall and winter program, the Centennial committee of the Cone Memorial YMCA held a dinner meeting Tuesday night and heard A. S. Arnold outline activities for the past year and committee chairmen give reports on their work. Raymond Kincaid, chairman of the Centennial committee, presided over the meeting.

Pointing out that the Y. membership is now over 4200, Arnold declared that this figure would be pushed up by Christmas after a membership drive. He stated that Cone Memorial was one of three Y. organizations in the South putting on the centennial pageant and the only one giving it twice. Reviewing the boys' activities for the year, the speaker referred to the advantages offered them through clubs, gymnastics, swimming, etc. Mr. Arnold announced another meeting of the Centennial committee in October at which time various committee chairmen will report on progress of their work. Closing his remarks with a challenge for the future, Mr. Arnold stated that such a program as has been undertaken requires the added leadership of laymen.

Walter Thornberg, president of the association, spoke briefly inviting initiative in projects of the Y.

Chairmen making reports on various committees were: B. A. Sisk, Church and Y. Cooperation; J. L. Bumgarner, Physical; H. M. Angel, Social Activities; Robert Gregory, Educational; Angel, Membership; Vaughn Brady, Religion; H. A. Barnes, Boys Work; Herman Leonard, Publicity.

Those attending the meeting in addition to the above chairmen were: Raymond Kincaid, L. H. Bell, F. T. Noah, Chester Arnold and Miss Lelah Nell Masters.

Local Tennis Champion Enters High School

Hopes To Participate In Football, Basketball

Tommy Ward, this year's winner of the Men's Singles Tennis Championship of the Cone Memorial YMCA, entered Senior high school last Monday looking forward to taking part in various high school sports. Since Tommy won the championship after only one season of tennis, he is likely to develop in the two sports which he says he likes best, football and basketball. The young champion, who will celebrate his fifteenth birthday October 15, stands a good chance to participate in high school sports activities since his academic grades will probably stick to the good standards he has set in the past, participation in sports depending to a great extent upon passing grades.

Young Ward, who modestly attributes his success in tennis to luck and the backing of his numerous friends, declared that Rev. Clay was his toughest opponent.

"What made him so hard to beat was his special technique of putting cutts on the ball so that it would bounce forward when you thought it would bounce backward."

As to his favorite tennis professional, Tommy declared that he admired Don Budge most of all. He plans to attend several college games within the next year and to keep up practice in tennis. He hopes to go to college when the time comes and plans to take physical education.

WASHINGTON SNAPSHOTS

BY JAMES PRESTON

Emphasizing that private enterprise must be considered our main source of postwar prosperity, the House Economic Planning Committee is advocating a sharp cut in postwar taxes for business and for individuals in the lower and middle income groups. Its recommendations include abolition of "double taxation" of corporate earnings, elimination of the excess profits tax, and re-examination of the capital gains tax to encourage venture capital and stimulate a high level of economic activity. The committee report is regarded as a significant index to what Congress is thinking about postwar policies . . .

Washington is striving to keep industrial home front policies in tune with the changing war situation. Acting Chairman Krug of the War Production Board has announced, in effect, that industrial reconversion will not be hampered by government production controls after the fall of Germany. He places the responsibility for early reconversion upon industry, expressing unlimited confidence in its ability to do the job. "That means, in substance, that our private economy has to carry the ball on the job of reconversion," Krug declares . . .

Support of legislation to curb the powers of bureaucrats and provide an established procedure of court review for all actions and decisions of federal agencies and bureaus is developing in Congress. Two Senate bills and three House bills for accomplishing these reforms already are pending . . .

Washington is expected to announce more ration exemptions before election. A coupon-free holiday for odd-lot shoes is in prospect for next month. After the canning season, sugar may be taken off the list. Middle grades of beef and pork will be declared point-free soon.

Home Front Rationing

PROCESSED FOODS

Blue stamps A-8 thru Z-8 and A-5 thru L-5 are good for 10 points each with no expiration date.

MEATS AND FATS

Red stamps A-8 thru Z-8 and A-5 thru G-5 are good for 10 points each indefinitely.

SUGAR

Sugar stamps Nos. 30, 31, 32 and 33 in Book 4 are good indefinitely for five pounds of sugar. Stamp No 40 is also good for five pounds of sugar.

SHOES

Airplane Stamps Nos. 1 and 2 in Book 3 are good indefinitely.

AUTOMOBILES

Persons transferring a motor vehicle must deliver to the purchaser duplicate copies of a receipt issued by the seller's war price and rationing board for outstanding gasoline rations. The purchaser must present a copy of this receipt to the war price and rationing board when applying for gasoline. The seller must also present to the purchaser his tire inspecion record.

TIRES

All application for grade I tires will have to be granted according to essential eligibility on account of the extreme shortage of this grade. The local board is limited to a small quota of passenger tires each month, and those having applications on file that cannot be filled because of lack of tires will be notified on the first of each calendar month that their applications have been denied for this reason.

GASOLINE

A-11 coupons are good for 3 gallons each until November 8. Tire inspection records must be presented at the board with application for supplemental gasoline and specials, even though tire inspection is no longer required.

FUEL OIL

Period 1 and 2 coupons for the new 1944-'45 heating season are now valid. Those to whom applications have been mailed for fuel oil for the new heating season are asked to complete these application at once and return them to the war price and rationing board to avoid delay. Class 3 coupons for domestic cooking and lighting have no expiration date. Period 4 and 5 fuel oil coupons which were scheduled to expire on September 30 will remain valid throughout the coming heating year.

STOVES

Coal and wood heating and cooking stoves will be removed from rationing on October 15. Until that date it will be necessary to apply for a stove certificate at the board. Oil and gas stoves will continue to be rationed because of the acute shortage of fuel oil.

BABY CLINICS

Those present at the White Oak Clinic Wednesday were Paul Childress, Charles Rhew, Jean Southern, Jimmie Reece, Sharon Jane Hill, Jerry and Wayne Michael, Terry and Neal Blum, Brenda Pardue, Wayne Michael, Johnnie Marshall, Charles E. Garner and Edward Nugent.

No Death Or Taxes

Something that used to be as certain as death and taxes was a complicated tax form. That was until the Bureau of Internal Revenue announced its simplified income tax return, no bigger than the size of an old-fashioned dollar bill, which will leave ungray the hair of some 30 million wage and salary earners with incomes of less than $5,000.

Just Suppose

During this time of the year we, who are gainfully employed and enjoy the type of peaceful life which exists only as a dream for so many people in other sections of the world, should realize that we ourselves, as individuals, are not entirely responsible for our own comparative good fortune and that those who are not so fortunate are probably not responsible for their particular situation.

Thoughtful and understanding indeed is the man who upon seeing a poverty stricken person, a thief, or a murderer, says, "But for the grace of God, that might be me."

Every one realizes that there is an enormous amount of suffering and hardship in this troubled world of ours. Our own boys in the fighting services of the country are bleeding and suffering. Few of them have the comforts and diversion that we have. We, however, through various agencies have been and will continue to try to bring to them as much of those things which will make life easier as we can. Yes, our Army and Navy are taking better care of our fighting men than they ever have before during periods of war, and there is no question but that our soldiers, sailors and marines are faring better than are the fighting men of other nations, regardless of whether they are allies or enemies. There are, however, limits beyond which our Army and Navy cannot go, and, therefore, we, through our realization of that fact, have been and certainly should continue to supplement the care of these men through organizations formed to look after the entertainment, the diversion and morale building of our Armed Forces. We all realize that certain factors beyond our own selves are responsible for the fact that it is not we that are on the fighting fronts and the boys who are on the fighting fronts are not enjoying the privileges and liberties and abundant life that we are now enjoying. This realization should assuredly make us feel the definite responsibility for the welfare of those boys. As individuals we can do certain things, such as write often and send gifts to our loved ones and our friends, but our greatest contribution to this cause can come through our support of the splendid agencies organized to represent us in efficiently supplementing where the Army and Navy stop.

In our thinking we also should realize that the fact that we are citizens of the United States is not our particular doing any more so than we can place the responsibility upon those living in the occupied countries or those that have just been freed from occupation by the enemy for being natives or residents of those countries. In other words, fate, to a very great extent, is responsible for their suffering just as fate is responsible for the fact that we are not in their place. If we were so unfortunate as to be in their place even for a brief period, we would realize just how much the assistance that some of our agencies furnish truly means to them. We, as human beings with consciences and minds, cannot afford to ignore their lots in life, and certainly we cannot afford not to help to ease their troubles and sufferings.

An application of the same type of reasoning will bring us to the conclusion that we have responsibilities for those in our own country who are not as fortunate as others of us. We are frequently appalled at events which take place, such as when a young man gets into serious trouble and brings sorrow to his family and friends and brings severe punishment to him. Frequently we are inclined to be very critical. We need, however, to go back to the earlier days of such lives and try to determine for ourselves what would have happened to those individuals if they had had certain benefits such as many of us take for granted. If some of such boys had the benefit of character building organizations such as the Boy Scouts or the Y. M. C. A., their lives might have been changed and they and their families might have been spared disgrace and suffering.

When we see a tubercular or a badly diseased person, do we stop to think that that person might have been as healthy as we are? Can we place the responsibility for that person's condition entirely upon himself or herself? If that person had had proper medical care and had been properly guided, aren't the chances great that he or she might have been healthy?

We are the last to endorse any program which would regiment all of our people to the extent that the individual's responsibility for himself is waived, because we do not believe in that type of society. We do believe, however, that we have certain responsibilities to our fellow-man, particularly those who through no fault of their own are not as fortunate as we are. We ourselves need the protection afforded by character building and relief agencies. The seeds from weeds growing in our neighborhood cannot be kept away from our own premises.

The Greensboro Community and War Chest will conduct its annual drive on October 10. We recommend serious consideration by our readers, and in considering the part that each of us is to play in this drive, let us all put to ourselves this thought: "Just suppose I was in the other person's shoes."

Proximity Community Club Meets Tuesday

The Proximity Community club will meet on Tuesday, September 26, at 7:30 o'clock in the club room of the welfare department. The committee in charge will be Mrs. R. C. Goforth, Mrs. John D. Scott, and Mrs. M. M. Bishop.

Mrs. Ziprik, president, urges everyone to be present.

Herman Cone And W. J. Armfield Will Serve As Chest Leaders

Herman Cone and W. J. Armfield, III, will be co-chairmen of the industrial division of the 1945 Greensboro Community and War Chest campaign, according to an announcement from John K. Voehringer, campaign chairman.

There will be only one division for all the industrial plants in the city which have five or more employees, stated Voehringer.

Mr. Cone will have charge of initial contacts with the 46 industrial firms in the city and will be responsible for the firm and executive pledges from these companies.

Pour Off The Fat From Meats In Panbroiling

Panbroiling, one of the most common meat cookery methods, is a convenient way to prepare small steaks, chops and patties from beef and lamb, smoked ham slices and bacon.

These meats are cooked uncovered in a heavy frying-pan without the addition of fat or water. It is sometimes desirable, however, to add a small amount of fat when cooking beef or lamb patties to prevent sticking to pans.

Panbroiled chops, steaks or patties are browned on both sides and then seasoned with salt and pepper. (All meats are more easily turned if they are allowed to brown thoroughly before turning.)

The meat may be started in a cold frying-pan. After it is browned, the temperature should be reduced and the meat turned occasionally. This will cook it more uniformly. A spatula or fork may be used for turning, but if a fork is used it should be inserted into the fat rather than the lean to prevent loss of juice.

If fat collects in the pan, it should be poured off, because when meat cooks in fat it is being fried rather than panbroiled, and there is a resulting difference in flavor.

The time required for panbroiling is approximately the same, or slightly less, than the time required for broiled meats. The following is based on meat cookery experiments conducted by the National Livestock and Meat Board.

Beef steaks, ¾ to 1-inch thick, allow about 15 minutes for rare, 20 minutes for medium; lamb steaks, ¾ to 1-inch thick, allow 15 to 20 min. and lamb patties, 18 to 20 min.; smoked ham slices ½ to ¾-inch thick allow 12 to 15 minutes.

How Requests May Be Filed For A Soldier's Return

Atlanta, Ga.—Many War Department agencies have been receiving requests for overseas soldiers to be returned to this country due to an illness in the family or for some other reason which might justify an emergency furlough if the military personnel were in the United States. Previously the procedure has been for the substance of the correspondence to be transmitted to the theater of operations and requests a report as to the action taken by the theater commander.

There have also been thousands of requests for information regarding the physical condition of soldiers overseas, and many of these messages have been relayed by radio and letter to the theater commander for a report.

Major General Frederick E. Uhl, Commanding General of the Fourth Service Command, states that the procedure for such cases has been changed and that hereafter requests for the return of individuals will be made directly through the local chapter of the American Red Cross. All the facts in the case should be presented to the Red Cross. The local chapter will investigate the case and make its recommendations through normal Red Cross channels to the appropriate commander for consideration.

General Uhl also stated that War Department agencies will not request theater commanders to report on the physical condition of individuals serving overseas. Persons filing such requests will be advised that the War Department will report serious illness and subsequent change in physical condition to the next of kin as a matter of routine procedure immediately upon receipt of such report. It may be assumed that the absence of such a report indicates that the individual's condition has not changed materially.

General Uhl explained that the reason it is impossible for the War Department to take favorable action on the thousands of requests for special reports on individuals overseas, is the heavy load on available channels of communications.—(Textile Tribune)

don herold says:

Among the raw materials which any factory needs is money.

It may need steel or rubber or asbestos or cork or oil or all of 'em—and maybe other things. But the first thing it needs is MONEY.

You could call 10,000 workers together and they couldn't turn a wheel without somebody's money to pay for the wheel and some raw materials with which to make the product.

The only way to get this money is to "rent it" from people (stockholders) who have been thrifty and smart and lucky enough to save more than they've spent.

If these people are too scared by exorbitant taxes or by politicians to risk their money, the 10,000 workers mentioned above will just stand around with no toools or "ingredients" to work with. THAT is what we don't want to happen in America after this war.

Rev. Apartment Rooms Redecorated

The Revolution Community club room and the welfare kitchen, both located in the Revolution apartment house, have been painted recently. Walls which were formerly gloomy and dark are now bright and colorful. Those who work in these rooms have expressed their gratitude for the transformation.

Attendance Aug. 7 - Sept. 3

This attendance report is for the month of August 7 to September 3. It is a week later than usual, which is very late, because the figures were not ready sooner.

The attendance flags go to Revolution Dying, Second Shift; White Oak Dyeing, Second Shift; Print Works Engravers, and Proximity Shipping.

Mr. M. S. Moore's Revolution Dyers brought in an average attendance of almost ninety-nine and one half per cent to take the Revolution honors away from First Shift Napping who just missed the ninety-nine per cent mark themselves. Revolution's Shipping Department was also outstanding with better than ninety-eight per cent.

In addition to our monthly report, we are catching up on the week of September fourth to tenth. You will find the figures below and they are the best we have ever had. White Oak has hit ninety per cent for the first time. Proximity just missed ninety, and Print Works is better than ever with above ninety-five per cent attendance. We are all proud of these Textile Joe's who are backing the G. I.'s with production. Let's keep it up. And let's buy bonds.

Emblem Club Begins Activities With Meeting

The Emblem club of the Cone Memorial YMCA officially opened its fall and winter activities with a dinner meeting for the first shift group of all the mills at the White Oak-Revolution branch and a luncheon meeting for the second shift group at the Proximity-Print Works branch. Walter L. Thornburg, Superintendent of the Proximity Print Works and members of the board of directors of the Cone Memorial YMCA spoke briefly to the first shift group on the theme of our responsibility to the community. The speaker pointed out the many opportunities the association offers to the membership and urged each one to give their time and talents liberally as ambassadors of the YMCA. Mr. H. A. Barnes, retired superintendent of the Proximity Print Works, spoke to the second shift group from the experiences of his life and his career in the association.

Albert S. Arnold, General Secretary of the Cone Memorial YMCA, came through with a very timely and helpful suggestion: that of selling to friends, relatives and sweethearts a Christmas gift membership. No thoughtful person desiring to honor another person with an appreciable year around gift could find a happier solution to his shopping problem than a membership in the Cone Memorial YMCA and to the Emblem club. Mr. Arnold offers to give a party after the 25th of December to all those who have sold three or more such memberships. Now is the time to give him or her a gift of health, recreation, social life, spiritual helpfulness and good wholesome fellowship for all those off days, and after work periods.

S.2c Lewis Isley of Camp Peary, Va., spent the past week end here visiting his sister, Mrs. Paul Allen.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Murray of Chapel Hill visited Mr. and Mrs. Albert Murray last Friday.

Mrs. Gladiola Cocklin of Hopewell, Va., spent the week end here visiting Mrs. Gene Riley.

Mr. Earl Riley of Philadelphia spent the past week end here visiting his wife and mother.
